FFA STATE AWARD — The Calloway County High School chapter of Future Farmers of America recently won first place in the state FFA air-cured tobacco grading contest. This is the fifth consecutive year that the Calloway chapter has captured this state title. The contest consists of grading stripped tobacco according to group, quality, color and length. Kentucky commissioner of agriculture Tom Harris, second from right, is shown making the presentation to, left to right, chapter members Tim Felner, Tripp Furches and Jimmy Johnson.

Pregame, Halftime Activities For Tech Game To Be Colorful

Activities planned for both pregame and halftime of the Murray State-Tennessee Tech football game Saturday night at Roy Stewart Stadium promise to be some of the most colorful ever presented at a Murray athletic event.

Participating will be the high school cheerleaders from five states, the 170-member Marching Racer Band, the Marching Marshalls band from Marshall County High School and the Murray High School Tiger Band.

Also included will be a special "Tribute to Murray" ceremony honoring the Murray Chamber of Commerce.

The cheerleaders will be coming off a Recognition Day packed with clinical and workshop instruction in sideline and tumbling exercises, pompon routines and cheer evaluations.

The pregame program, starting at 7 p.m., will be presented by the Racer Band, the largest ever at Murray State and making its second appearance before the home fans. Last Saturday night, the Racer musicians received a standing ovation following their show at the Murray State-Southeast Louisiana halftime.

Making up the university's band this year are 118 members with wind and percussion instruments, 38 in the flag corps, four field commanders, four twirlers and four rifles. They are under the direction of David A. Wells, who is beginning his fifth year in that position.

The Marshall County band's show will open the halftime activities. Under the direction of Joe Pettigrew, who is in his third year at the school, the band will be led by drum major Ann Martin and color guard captain Crystal Hurley. Kevin Roberts and Jackie Whaler are the assistant directors.

The Marching Marshalls, with their flashy style and unique showmanship, marched in the 1977 Orange Bowl parade and represented Kentucky in the Bicentennial Parade in 1976 in Washington, D.C.

Following the Marshall Countians' appearance, the tribute to the Murray Chamber of Commerce will be given. Chamber President Walter Apperson, publisher of The Murray Ledger & Times, will be on the field to accept a special Racer plaque, presented on behalf of the university community in appreciation for the cooperation given the institution through the years by the people of Murray and Calloway County.

Vocational Center To Have Open House On Monday, Sept. 24

The Murray Area Vocational Education Center will have an Open House on Monday, September 24 at 6:30 p.m. until 9:00 p.m.

Parents of Calloway County High School and Murray High School students who are attending the Vocational School and also the general public are invited to tour the building and observe the facilities.

Anyone who would like to register for one of the upcoming night extension courses may do so during the open house.

Light, Jr., who is in his eighth year in Murray and in his second as director of bands for the Murray city schools, will then present its eight-minute, award-winning show. Its assistant directors are Jim Wright and Richard McLendon, both in their first year with the band.

Making up the 1979-80 Tiger Band are 134 young people, including seven rifle and 20 flag bearers. The field commanders are Karen Brandon and Craig Thurman, while Julie Sams is the rifle captain and Cindy Montgomery and Carol Beaman are the flag corps co-captains.

The band's show, which won for its first place among the nine bands entered in the Lone Oak Invitational Marching Band Contest last Saturday night, will include:

"Pictures of Spain," a Spanish number featuring trumpet solos by Matt Burke, Shari Crafton, Bryan Bartlett and Becky Shuffett; "Come in From the Rain," featuring Doug Moore on the trombone; a number featuring the percussion section along with the flags and rifles; "El Gato Triste," another Spanish number featuring Kent Eversmeyer on the French Horn; and "The Way We Were" with Bartlett in a trumpet solo and featuring the tuba section, made up of Bill Leslie, David Cooper, Richard Kupchella and Nicky McKinney.

The performance also marks the first appearance this year before Racer fans for the Murray High Band. In 1977, the Tiger band won the Marching Bands of America national high school championship, and it marched in both the 1975 and 1977 Orange Bowl parades.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. and plenty of reserved seat tickets are available.

Paducah Firm Currently Working On Design Of Benton Bypass

A Paducah firm is currently working on the design of the Benton Bypass, a connector link between the end of the four-lane section of U. S. 641 south of Benton and the Purchase Parkway, according to Jim Cleavinger, an engineer in the Reidland office of the Kentucky Department of Transportation, Bureau of Highways.

Cleavinger said today that Florence and Hutchinson consulting engineers had been awarded the contract for the design of the four-lane bypass which will intersect U. S. 641 just south of Benton. The bypass will tie the now-under-construction four-lane section of U. S. 641 between Murray and Benton with the Purchase Parkway which connects with Interstate 24.

Paving of the four-lane section of U. S. 641 is scheduled for completion in the Fall of 1980.

Cleavinger said he expects the design work on the bypass route, which will cover a distance of about three miles, to be completed by 1981.

The Benton bypass will be the final leg necessary to give Murrians a four-lane link to the interstate highway system.

Cleavinger also said that the design work on repaving the intersection of Main and 16th Streets in Murray is currently underway. The engineer said

Norman O. Lane Named Regional Center Director

Norman O. Lane, coordinator of special education programs in the Office of Extended Education at Murray State University, has been named director of the Center for Regional Services on the campus.

His appointment by the board of regents Saturday began immediately. He succeeds Ray Dunn, who resigned to become principal of Southwest Elementary School in Calloway County.

Lane, 45, joined the staff at Murray State in 1961. In addition to his work in continuing and extended education, he has served as dean of student affairs, dean of men, and director of housing.

Ordered To Hire Rosemary Lamb

Louisville Commission Rules Against Police

A woman who the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights ordered the Murray Police Department to hire isn't sure she wants the job.

Rosemary Lamb, said today that "I'm a little worried that the officers might make it rough on me. I'm going to think it over for a while before I make a decision."

In an executive session Wednesday in Richmond, the commission ruled that the Murray police had discriminated against Lamb on the basis of her sex and ordered the department to immediately offer her a job.

Lamb, 23, applied twice for the job on the Murray force where she served as an intern in 1977. Both applications were rejected. She is currently employed by the Madisonville Police Department.

Although she has not been officially contacted by the Murray police, Lamb said she spoke with Chief Jerry Lee on the phone today.

"Chief Lee told me that he would get back in touch with me some time next week," Lamb said in a telephone interview from Madisonville.

"If they hire me, the chief said I would start out as a two-year patrolman. I've only been working here for 18 months."

"At first I was sure I wouldn't take the job, but after talking to Chief Lee I've decided to give it more thought," she said.

Lamb was hired on March 30, 1978, as a police officer by the Madisonville department.

Bridge Closed To Single Lane Until December For Repair

The bridge on U.S. 68 in Aurora over Kentucky Lake has been closed to one lane until Dec. 1, a spokesman for the state Department of Highways stated.

One lane will be used while the bridge deck is being repaired, the spokesman added.

A 1977 graduate of Murray State University with a bachelor's degree in criminology and corrections, Lamb said she filed the complaint with the commission two years ago because of the principle.

"At the time I was an intern, there weren't any blacks or women on the Murray force, and it didn't look like things were going to change. I wanted to rectify the situation. I wasn't that interested in the money," she said.

The commission's ruling requires the Murray police to pay Lamb back pay minus the amount of her income since she first applied in 1977.

"Since Lamb's salary at Madisonville is approximately the same as she would have earned at Murray, there won't be much money involved," Galen Martin, executive director of the commission, said. "But she was unemployed for a while, so there will be some payment." He didn't know what that would be.

Murray Mayor Melvin B. Henley today said that he was waiting for official notification from the commission before commenting on the matter. He added that he would then ask the Murray Common Council at its next meeting if the decision should be appealed. The next meeting is Thursday, Sept. 27.

Murray police also will be required to report to the commission on hiring of women for the next two years.

Investigation Starts Into Stabbing Death

Calloway County Deputy Sheriff David Balentine said an investigation has started in the death of a Michigan woman who was found stabbed while riding in the sleeping compartment of a transport truck.

Pamela Kay Mapes, 29, wounded in the chest and stomach, was taken to Murray-Calloway County Hospital emergency room Sunday and then transferred to Lourdes Hospital in Paducah, where she died at 2:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Balentine said Mapes had been picked up in Pontiac, Mich., her hometown, by Billie G. Coleman, Route 1, Murray, who was delivering a number of trucks to this area. Coleman is a local car dealer.

Balentine said Coleman told this story:

He loaded Mapes' car onto the transport and they headed for Kentucky.

She later climbed into the compartment and Coleman said he heard nothing from her until she asked how far they were from Murray.

A short time later, Coleman said he heard a groan, looked around and saw that the woman was bleeding from stab wounds. A knife was nearby.

He notified authorities but the woman refused to ride in an ambulance. Coleman then unloaded one of the pickup trucks from the carrier and drove her to a hospital.

A spokesman for the sheriff's department said that Coleman stated Mapes had attempted to call her mother while stopping at truck stops during the trip. The reports added that Coleman said she could not reach her mother and he was in the sleeping compartment of the truck during one of her attempts to call.

Balentine said Coleman and the woman had known each other in the past and that she frequently was paid to drive new cars from Michigan to other states.

The spokesman said no charges have been filed. Authorities currently are waiting for the autopsy report.

Mel Blanc To Present Program Here Sept. 24

Mel Blanc, the man whose voice an estimated 100 million people throughout the world hear every day, will be at Murray State University Monday, Sept. 24, for a free program in the University Center Auditorium.

For more than 40 years, Blanc has been the voice of countless cartoon characters, including Bugs Bunny, Tweedy, Road Runner, Yosemite Sam, Daffy Duck, Porky Pig, Sylvester the Cat, Speedy Gonzales and others.

Blanc's appearance is sponsored by the Murray State Student Government, and the public is invited to attend.

Born in San Francisco, Calif., in 1908, Blanc was raised in Portland, Ore. His vocalisms began in grammar school where he got great laughs "but lousy grades." It was there that he invented the laugh which later was to become the signature of Woody Woodpecker.

Blanc began his radio career in 1927 with "The Hoot Owls" on KGW in Portland. Then, in 1933, he and his wife, Estelle, wrote and produced a daily two-person radio show in Portland doing all the voices themselves.

From the mid-1930's through the 1940's, a period generally referred to as "the golden days of radio," Blanc starred in his own radio show, as well as appearing as a featured guest with such performers as Jack Benny, Judy Canova, Abbott and Costello and Burns and Allen.

While with Capitol Records, he recorded hundreds of singles and albums, two of his recordings, "I Tawt I Taw a Puddy Tat," and "The Woody Woodpecker Song," each of which have sold over two million copies. His total record sales on the Capitol label has been estimated at more than 12 million.

After Blanc moved into television with the Jack Benny Show, it wasn't long before he created a score of unusual "voice" characters, including those of Barney Rubble and Dino the Dinosaur of "The Flintstones," Speed Buggy, and several characters for ABC's children's educational show, "Curiosity Shop." Hanna Barbera's "Jetsons," and recent features like Chuck Jones' "Connecticut Rabbit in King Arthur's Court."

Since 1960 Americans have also encountered the distinctive Blanc "touch" in commercials created by the staff of Blanc Communications Corporation for a variety of advertisers.

In Beverly Hills, he and his son Noel, president of Blanc Communications Corporation, put together a production staff that specializes in creating entertaining commercials.

Although seriously injured in an automobile accident in 1961, he is busy as ever today, touring the college circuit as the number one attraction on campuses across the country. He still has time, however, to complete new TV half-hour shows like "The Carnival of the Animals" by Ogden Nash and featuring Bugs Bunny.

Blanc and his wife live in Pacific Palisades, about one block from the beach. As he would say in his Porky Pig voice, "The...th...th...that's all folks!!"

Mrs. Beal Gives Program For PEO

The first fall meeting of Chapter M of the P.E.O. Sisterhood followed noon luncheon at the Triangle Restaurant on Saturday, Sept. 15. The table was centered with a bouquet of fall flowers from the garden of the hostess and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Horton.

Mrs. Nate Beal presented the program creating a clever schoolroom situation in which were studied regulations governing local and state chapter of the Sisterhood in Kentucky. The chaplain, Mrs. Harlan Hodges, based her devotion on Psalm 100 and the president, Mrs. A. C. LaFollette, presided over the business meeting.

Plans were completed for a benefit luncheon to further educational opportunities for women which have always been the prime objectives of the Sisterhood, a spokesman said. The public is invited to buy tickets in advance for the gourmet affair served buffet style, to be held in the community room of the People's Bank at 12th and Chestnut Streets at noon on Saturday, Sept. 22, which is being called "The Flavor of Kentucky." Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Chapter.

General chairman for the event is Mrs. William Major; food chairman is Mrs. John C. Quettermous; table chairman, Mrs. Olga Freeman and ticket chairman, Mrs. Lewis Bessing.

The next meeting of the group will be on Oct. 1 at 7:30 p.m., in the home of Mrs. H. L. Oakley, with Mrs. Donald Burchfield assisting. The program will be presented by Mrs. George Hart who will speak on her travels in Russia.

For the past couple of weeks, every place I've spent my "days", the subject of "Holocaust", the made for television movie, has been a talked about item. I have to admit that it made a profound and disturbing impression on me. Dr. Kent Forrester and I were discussing "Holocaust" and he was telling me that he had visited the infamous concentration camp called Auschwitz in Poland about seven years ago. He said the movie changed his mind about letting the time expire to track down the German war criminals - he feels that the statue of limitation should be removed, and they should be tracked down and punished.

He also was having a conversation with another English professor friend of his, Dr. Clell Peterson, and was shocked to learn that Dr. Peterson was with the U.S. Army who arrived at Auschwitz the first day, to liberate the prisoners. From Dr. Peterson's description, the horror is almost too much to tell.

On to a more pleasant subject, the birth of a new grandson in the Payne family has pleased everyone. Agnes Payne was laughing and saying the proud grandfather, James, was beating her to the punch, by telling the news of the birth before she could. Cindy and Steve Payne are the proud parents of the new boy, named Matthew Steven.

Their darling blond haired-little girl, Raegan Leigh, is also happy about the new addition, as well as Cindy's parents, Wanda and Cletus Colson.

12-15 people.

The national convention for the Episcopal Churches was held last week in Denver, Colo., and three Murray Episcopalians attended.

Nancy Whitmer combined the convention with a job of house sitting for her brother-in-law and his wife, Robert and Page Whitmer, while they took off on a skiing trip to the Rockies. While Nancy was there, she could look out the window and see the snow capped mountains, and it snowed quite a bit about five miles outside of Denver, which is very unusual for this early in the fall and winter.

Also attending the youth part of the convention were Gus and Ben Moore, two good paper boys for the Murray Ledger & Times, and also the sons of Claudia and Dr. Charles W. Moore.

Declarer had to be an economist in the care of today's dummy's trumps. He needed every one available to achieve success, but, unfortunately, he made one small slip and lost his slam.

Dummy's heart ace won and the trump eight was carefully led from dummy for a finesse. West ducked smoothly and cleverly and another low spade was led. East discarded, declarer shrugged and went up with the ace of trumps, leaving the high spade with West.

The 10 of diamonds was led to dummy's queen and a low club was successfully finessed. Now South had to find a way to dummy to repeat the club finesse.

The high diamonds were cashed and the spade queen was led to West's king. West punched declarer with the heart 10 and declarer was careful to ruff with the jack of trumps. The only entry left was dummy's 10 of trumps and declarer exhausted his own trumps to reach the dummy. East discarding a heart to keep his clubs.

Another club finesse won, but it did not work. Declarer's ace failed to drop the king and East scored the last trick.

To make the slam, declarer should have played his queen of trumps on the second lead from dummy. West would be forced to take his king or lose it and now declarer would have another dummy entry.

West returns a heart which declarer ruffs high and the trump nine to dummy's 10 allows a club

Pamela Tucker Is Married To Mr. Vancil At First Church

Miss Pamela Renee Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Earl Tucker, 349 Blane Drive, Hopkinsville, formerly of Murray, was married to Rodney Dean Vancil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Vancil, Anna, Ill., in an August ceremony at 7:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Murray.

The Rev. John Christian of Hopkinsville officiated at the ceremony. Richard Jones, organist, and Toby Roberts and Sheila Ellington, soloists, presented the nuptial music.

Before the wedding vows were exchanged, the responsive reading of I Corinthians 13 was read by the minister and congregation.

A seven branched candelabrum forming an arch decorated with sprengeri fern and pastel ribbons was used as the focal point of the ceremony. The candelabrum was flanked by two tree candelabra holding seven burning candles each. Two additional candelabra were used at the base of the steps, all decorated with sprengeri fern and pastel ribbon.

The unity candle was placed on a table directly in front of the pews. It consisted of two large half candles which were lighted by the bride and groom. The candles were placed in a shell molding the two into one candle.

Bride's Dress

The bride, escorted by her father, was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a gown fashioned of polyester organza over peau de soie featuring chantilly lace and crystal pleating.

The neckline featured a chantilly lace band edged in a row of crystal and pleating and seed pearls. The scalloped yoke came to a point in the back made of chantilly lace and edged in a row of crystal pleating sprinkled with seed pearls and white sequins closed with 48 self covered buttons.

The high waist was encircled in a white satin band forming a bow in the back and long streamers. The sleeves were formed of chantilly lace and pearl cuffs made of chantilly lace edged in a row of crystal pleating. The skirt extended to a chapel train with crystal pleating finishing the hemline.

Her fingertip veil was tulle edged in crystal pleating with sprays of chantilly lace and seed pearls over the headpiece and covering the back. Her only jewelry was a pair of opal earrings borrowed from her aunt.

The bride carried a European cascade bouquet of pastel roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath with long ribbon streamers with love knots tied holding sprays of baby's breath.

Miss Tanya Holt of Dukedom, Tenn., was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Tucker, Hopkinsville, sister of the bride, Miss Eleanor Mills of Guston, and Miss Kim Sparks of Paducah.

The attendants wore dresses in pastel colors fashioned of sheer organza over polyester with skirts edged in ruffles running up the side to the waistlines, ending in rosettes at the waists. The sleeveless bodices and scooped necklines were overlaid with sheer polyester capes edged in ruffles.

Miss Holt wore a crown of roses matching her dress, and all attendants carried long stemmed roses with streamers of ribbon flowing to the floor.

The flower girls were Buffy Waldrop and Mary Paul Sammons, both of Murray, who wore dresses identical to the other attendants and a crown of silk roses matching their dresses. They carried wicker baskets and scattered white rose petals.

Douglas Vancil, brother of the groom, was bestman. Groomsmen were Danny Vancil, also a brother of the groom, and Jeffrey and Wes Choate, cousins of the groom, all of Anna, Ill.

Ushers were Steve Hussung, Murray, Gary Eaton, Louisville, Scott Lester, Metropolis, Ill., and Kevin Hileman, Columbia, Ill. Benjamin Wright, Murray, was the ringbearer.

Mrs. Linda Wright of Murray directed the wedding.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church with Mrs. Ola Outland as the coordinator.

Hostesses were Mrs. James Rogers, LaFayette, Mrs. Patsy Bethel and Miss Paula Lyons, both of Nashville, Tenn., Betty Farris, Paris, Tenn., and Mrs. David Parker, Murray.

The bride's table was overlaid with an ivory linen floor length cloth centered with a three branched silver candelabrum holding three white burning tapers surrounded by a wreath of pastel roses. On either side were silver bowls with arrangements of pastel roses and baby's breath.

The three tiered white wedding cake was decorated in fresh pastel roses matching those in the centerpiece and the candelabrum. Punch was served from a silver punch bowl. Silver appointments were also used to serve assorted nuts and mints. A crystal bowl held assorted marinated fruit.

David Waldrop, dressed identically to the attendants, kept the guest register and distributed rice bags made of white net, tied with pastel ribbons from a silver tray. The register table was accented by a small silver compote holding pastel roses and baby's breath.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Vinson, parents of the groom, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held at the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church.

Personals

IN SORORITY

Tressa Brewer and Sherry Nall, both of Murray, and Cindy Mastera of Hazel were initiates of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority, Murray State University, at the recent initiation held by the group.

Special Events Are Held In Honor Of Mrs. Vancil

Mrs. Rodney Dean Vancil, the former Pamela Renee Tucker, was honored with several pre-nuptial events.

A coffee was held in the home of Mrs. Gus Robertson, Jr., Murray, with Mrs. Robertson, Mr. Ron Wright, and Mrs. Richard Jones as hostesses.

The home of Mrs. Marco Stergas, Hopkinsville, was the scene of a tea with Mesdames Stergas, Tony Hensley, Charles Dunn, John Zatzman, Mary Jane Lancaster, and J. C. Thorpe as hostesses.

A miscellaneous shower was held at the Anna Heights Baptist Church, Anna, Ill., with the ladies of the church as hostesses.

Mrs. Ola Outland, Mrs. David Waldrop, and Mrs. Jesse McKinney entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the Outland home in Murray.

Patricia Tucker was hostess for a personal shower held at the Baptist Student Union, Murray.

A bridesmaids luncheon was given by the bride at Dakota Feed and Grain. Guests were Patricia Tucker, Tanya Holt, Kim Sparks, Sheila Ellington, Eleanor Mills, Mrs. Orval Vancil, and Mrs. Prentice Tucker.

Ladies Tennis Meet Planned

The women's tennis groups, A, B, and C, of the Murray Country Club will have a potluck supper on Thursday, Sept. 27, in the club house.

Lochie Landolt and Rainey Apperson, co-chairmen for the groups, invite all interested women to attend.

Meat will be furnished and each woman is asked to bring a dish.

An informal hour will be from 6 to 7 p.m., and serving will begin at 7:15 p.m.

Those planning to attend are asked to make reservations by Monday evening by calling Rainey Apperson, 753-7590, or Lochie Landolt, 753-4707.

Local Scene Watermelon Seeds Are Priced At $8.33 Each

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — Seems like you can't buy anything cheap anymore. Ivan Bright and his son Lloyd plan to sell their watermelon seeds for $8.33 each, or eight for $50, or a dozen for $100.

But these aren't just any old seeds. They come from the Bright's 200-pound melon that eclipsed the 197-pounder listed in the 1979 Guinness Book of World Records. Hope city officials certified the melon's weight after it was picked late last month.

The Brights are preserving the monster melon in a cool room until the Arkansas State Fair at Little Rock later this month.

Ivan says he will cut the melon at the end of the fair. With an estimated 600 to 700 seeds inside his beauty and people reportedly lining for a share, he hopes to make more than $5,000.

But that won't necessarily make Ivan Bright a happy man.

The Hope Advertising and Promotion Commission had offered a $10,000 prize for a 200-pound melon at the Hope Watermelon Festival. Bright's melon didn't reach 200 pounds until 33 hours after the contest deadline elapsed.

Sees Pen Pal, Writes Him Off

DEAR ABBY: Eight years ago, when I was 16, I began a pen-pal relationship with a boy (my age) in Liverpool, England. We corresponded faithfully, exchanged pictures, and you might say we "fell in love" through our letters.

Derek's letters indicated that he was intelligent, well-read and romantic, and I couldn't wait to meet him.

Last week he came to visit me. Abby, I can't believe he is the same person who wrote those letters. Although he LOOKS like his pictures, he is like a stranger to me. He's painfully shy, hardly ever looks me in the eye, and when he talks he stammers. I did my best to make him feel comfortable and open up, but it was useless.

Last night he said he is in love with me and wants a physical relationship. Although I expressed my love for him in my letters, I have absolutely no romantic feelings for him in person. I just can't have a physical relationship with him, Abby.

How can a person who writes so eloquently be so totally inarticulate and unappealing in person? Please tell me how to handle this. I hate to hurt him.

LET DOWN IN CONN.

DEAR LET DOWN: Be gentle but honest. Tell Derek that the chemistry is not right for a physical relationship. He will be hurt, but he'll be hurt more if you give him false hope.

Many shy people can't cope with social situations, so they retreat into solitary activities such as reading and writing. Consequently they never develop the art of verbal communication. Don't totally reject Derek because you have no romantic interest in him. He desperately needs your friendship and understanding.

DEAR ABBY: Carla, our 15-year old daughter, is our problem. She's boy crazy. She's very mature (physically) for her age and has been wearing a 38 bra since she was 14.

Last semester she failed two subjects so we sent her to summer school to make them up. Well, she had such a busy social life with the boys that she failed both subjects again!

This year we have laid down the law. Instead of letting her stay out until 11 p.m. on school nights and 1 a.m. on weekends, we told her she has to be in the house by 10 p.m. on school nights and 12:30 on weekends. Now she has her dates pick her up at 6:30. Isn't this too early for a girl to be going out? Carla says since she has to be in by 11 she has to get an early start! What is your opinion?

CARLA'S MOM

DEAR MOM: I think Carla is getting an "early start" for an earlier finish. In my opinion, a 15-year-old girl with failing grades should not date at all on school nights, and midnight should be curfew on weekends.

DEAR ABBY: The man I am married to is very intelligent about most things, but he has one childish fault. Every time he hears a siren he has to follow it. We have been late to more places because this thrill-seeking nut of mine has chased a fire engine, ambulance or squad car. He never misses your column, so maybe if you mentioned this, you'd make an impression. I can't get through to him.

IDA IN ALBANY

DEAR IDA: It's people like your husband who make it difficult for firemen, police and rescue squads to reach the scene where they're desperately needed. Many lives have been lost, and property destroyed, because thrill-seekers have created a traffic problem. Tell your overgrown boy that if he doesn't pull over to the curb when he hears a siren, HE is in violation of the law!

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Ryan, Rigsby, Muehleman, Thompson To Be Speakers

"Smooth Sailing Through the Eighties," a professional office personnel workshop designed to broaden and strengthen the effectiveness of office personnel in all levels of business operations (management through clerical) will be held on Saturday, Sept. 29, on the campus of Murray State University, and is being sponsored by the Murray Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International).

Topics for discussion are considered to be areas which will have a tremendous impact on the world of business during the next decade and include:

— "Today's Job Market," conducted by Dr. LaVerne C. Ryan, Asst. Prof. of Business Education and Office Administration and Coordinator of the CPS Review Courses and Examination Center at Murray State, who has conducted interviews and on-the-job observations in some 40 businesses (large and small) from coast to coast.

— "Media Advertising," by Joe Rigsby, Asst. Prof. of Journalism and Graphic Art Design at Murray State since 1977, after 26 years with Doe Anderson, a Louisville-based advertising agency, where he was, at the time of retirement, senior vice-president, a major stockholder and director of the corporation.

— "Conquering Stress," by Dr. J. Thomas Muehleman, Assoc. Prof. of Psychology and Director of the Psychological Center at Murray State, who has worked in professional service in the forms of consultation, psychological evaluation and psychotherapy, and has been extensively involved in many research and professional activities.

— "Communicating Without Words," by Dr. James T. Thompson, Chairman of the Department of Educational Media at the University of South Alabama, who was born in Belfast, Northern Ireland and received his early education there. He is continually in demand for his presentations in the field of communication and educational technology, particularly in the area of human communication.

Registration for the workshop will begin at 8:30 a.m., in the second floor foyer of Faculty Hall, with three one-hour sessions (Today's Job Market, Media Advertising and Conquering Stress) being conducted simultaneously, beginning at 9:15 a.m. Following a coffee break, the three sessions will be repeated at 10:45 a.m.

The general session (Communicating Without Words) is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m., and will conclude by 3:00 P.M.

The registration fee is $17.00 per person and covers the entire day's activities, including a luncheon.

Registrations will be accepted through Monday, Sept. 24, and anyone interested in obtaining registration forms, or more information concerning the workshop can write to:

Doris Rowland, CPS, Peoples Bank, Murray, Ky., 42071, or call 502-753-3231.

Retired Minister Honored By Family, 91st Birthday

By Estelle Spiceland

People continue to urge me to write while I am an invalid, although Dr. Miller warned me not to be an invalid. So I am trying to keep house now, but at a snail's pace.

But conquerors like Mrs. Eunice Miller, an arthritic victim once, Mrs. Estelle Outland, and Mrs. Cammie Lovins, who has worn more casts than the average, and so many other brave ones have encouraged me to keep going.

Never will be forgotten, the Workmans who visited the Murray Convalescent Home every evening cheering patients as they passed by doorways as Susie Workman visited her helpless mother.

But Susie went before her mother, leaving more friends than she ever realized she had made.

Several Murray stores on their street have lost valuable citizens—Boody Russell, Laverne Wallis, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey both ill, and Susie gone. Other faces from other stores are missing too.

But after spending time in hospitals and convalescent home, death seems a blessed release from hopeless confinement and suffering here.

Congratulations to two dear ladies, Mrs. Sally Spiceland and Mrs. Mary Wisheart, who recently celebrated their 88th birthdays, and both keep house.

The old song, "There's No Place Like Home," still holds true.

The Durwood Edwards who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on a recent Sunday at their home which had been the home of Durwood's grandparents, and has since been modernized and beautified, perhaps enjoyed this perfect reunion day with their many friends and relatives more than any day before.

Special Information Given, Credit Bureau

By LOUIS COOK
Associated Press Writer
How good a credit risk are you?

The answer to that question is becoming more and more important in today's "chargeit" society, and it can depend largely on the kind of record you have built with one of the more than 2,000 credit bureaus across the country.

Credit bureaus collect information about the borrowing and bill-paying habits of millions of consumers. The bureaus themselves do not rate your creditworthiness; they simply forward the information to the people who do.

Here are some questions and answers about credit bureaus:

Q. What type of information is involved?

A. A credit bureau file contains your name, address, Social Security number and birth date. It also may include: your employer, position and income; your former address; your former employer; your spouse's name, Social Security number, employer and income; an indication of whether you own or rent your home; and your record of repaying previous debts. Each inquiry the bureau gets about you will be recorded. If you have been refused credit, the refusal will be noted.

ART OBJECTS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thirty-eight Far Eastern art objects from the collection of museum trustee Eric Lidow and Mrs. Lidow, together with works they have donated to the museum in recent years, are on view at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art through Jan. 6, 1980.

Highlights of the show include a group of Chinese bronze ritual vessels dating from the Shang (1500-1028 B.C.) and Chou (1027-222 B.C.) dynasties.

Q. Where do they get the information?

A. Indirectly, you provide it. Banks, retailers and other credit-granters regularly report to credit bureaus. When you fill in an application for a loan or a credit card, the information is sent to a credit bureau. Each time you make a payment, another report is sent in. Credit bureaus also check court and other public records for information on divorces, bankruptcies, tax liens and lawsuits.

Q. Will they question my neighbors?

A. No. Credit bureaus are not interested in your personal habits — only your financial ones.

Q. How long does the information stay in my record?

A. Most kinds of information can be reported for seven years. A bankruptcy will remain on file for 14 years.

Q. Who can get my record?

A. The report can be issued only to someone who has proper identification and who is going to use it for an approved purpose as defined by law.

Q. Can I see my report?

A. Yes. You have the right to know what your file contains. The credit bureau also has to tell you the names of people who have received employment records on you in the past two years and of people who have received credit reports on you in the past six months. You may be charged a small fee.

Q. What if there is a mistake in my file?

A. Tell the credit bureau. It must investigate and remove or modify incorrect information. If the investigation does not settle the dispute to your satisfaction, you may enter a statement of 100 words or less in your file explaining your position. This statement must be included in reports the bureau sends out about you.

HEALTH

Concern about obstruction

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you please send me some information on hiatal hernia. I have a friend who is supposed to have one. He can't get a meal without getting up to release some of the pressure. Sometimes it's so bad he eats very little and goes directly to the bathroom to throw part of it up and then he comes back to eat some more. It's especially bad when he's not feeling well.

He works seven days a week and long hours which gives him very little rest so he's always in a rundown condition. He has lost 35 to 40 pounds in six months and I'm worried it could be something else. When a doctor is mentioned he always says there isn't time.

Could you tell me what kind of food he should eat and what he should stay away from. He lives alone and doesn't fix proper food but I'm sure he will try if it comes from you. Could it be a rupture that causes this discomfort? Many times he will have to get up at night to relieve himself and he says it's an air lock.

DEAR READER — I wish there was an address on your letterhead because your friend should go see a doctor at once. Those are not the usual symptoms of a hiatal hernia.

Your letter sounds like you're describing an obstruction to the normal passage of food into the stomach. That could be because he's had an old hiatal hernia and the acid contents of his stomach have irritated the lower part of the esophagus, ultimately causing scarring and obstruction. But no one can tell that without a careful examination.

I'm concerned for fear he might have an obstruction caused by cancer or some other serious problem. Certainly that much weight loss with those symptoms requires immediate examination. Anyone who has difficulty swallowing or retaining the food they have eaten must be examined immediately.

There is a rare medical condition of spasm and obstruction of the lower part of the esophagus that prevents passage of food. This can be due to scarring but there's too big a risk that it could be something more serious and whatever the condition is, it should be treated.

I would have sent you The Health Letter number 4-8 on Hiatal Hernia if you had included your address. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Many people who have a small hiatal hernia have no symptoms at all. Most of them do deserve at least some intelligent management such as change in life style to prevent the possibility of developing scarring and obstruction in the lower part of the esophagus.

Although I do not know what your friend has, and no one can tell without an examination, it is true that people who have a hernia of a portion of the stomach through a hole in the diaphragm are most prone to trouble while lying down. The hernia affects the closure mechanism between the esophagus and stomach and if the stomach is full, its contents tend to leak into the esophagus. That is why propping up the head of the bed in such cases helps.

TOMATO EGGPLANT

If you enjoy a spicy dish to accompany plain pasta, here it is.

Two eggplants (½-pound each), unpeeled and sliced ½-inch thick

Salt and pepper to taste

1 tablespoon (or more) all-purpose flour

one-third cup olive oil

15½-ounce jar meatless marinara sauce

½ pound cheddar cheese, coarsely shredded

Sprinkle eggplant with salt and pepper; dip in flour so eggplant is very lightly coated. In a 12-inch skillet in the hot olive oil, fry eggplant, in single layers, until golden-brown on both sides. Arrange half the eggplant in an oblong 2-quart (11½ by 7½ by 1½ inches) baking dish; spread with half the marinara sauce (just as it comes from the jar); top with half the cheese. Repeat layers. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until bubbling hot and cheese has "melted" — about 20 minutes. Makes 6 rich and savory accompaniments for plain boiled pasta.

Single Parents Say Generally Happy

NEW YORK (AP) — Single parents say they are generally happy and consider themselves interesting people, but also would like to remarry someday, according to a new survey.

On one hand, the single parents say they like having the freedom to run their own lives, but some also said they are lonely and lack adult companionship. The survey of more than 760 single parents was commissioned by Time Out Institute, a group founded two years ago by Kentucky Fried Chicken to study the changing role of American women.

The Auto Settlement

The settlement between General Motors and the United Auto Workers is good and bad news: good in that it avoids a strike which would have deepened the economic downturn; bad in that it will add to inflationary pressures.

Auto workers, already among the highest paid in American industry, will get wage increases totaling 34 percent over the three-year contract period, bringing their hourly rate to more than $12. The increase could go even higher, through a cost-of-living escalator, if the national inflation rate exceeds the 8 percent a year anticipated in the contract.

The contract provides substantial increases in pensions of retired workers who were being squeezed by inflation, and it provides increased benefits for those who will retire in the future.

It brings the auto industry closer to the four-day week that the UAW has set as a long range goal, by increasing the number of personal holidays for workers from 12 to 26 over the three years. Taking into account national holidays and vacations, employees will be working about 10 months out of 12.

The settlement could be additional bad news for the ailing Chrysler Corp., the weak sister of the Big Three auto makers, unless the UAW agrees to lesser increases for its workers.

The agreement's inflationary impact has to be measured, of course, against the economic damage that might have been inflicted by a prolonged strike. A shutdown in the giant auto industry would have deepened the recession that economists say the country is in and it would have sharply increased unemployment.

A strike might also have had serious impact on the auto industry itself. Car sales have suffered a sharp decline in recent months and it may not be easy for the industry to get out of the doldrums, strike or no strike.

Consumers naturally will pick up the tab for the settlement by paying more for cars and trucks. The peaceful settlement may be, as the Carter administration's inflation fighter Alfred Kahn said, "good news for the economy in the short run."

But Kahn seemed to have reservations about it for the long run, as we do. It's going to make the fight against the economy's insidious enemy, inflation, all the more difficult.

No One Had To Ask Ted Sanford To Play 'Ragtime Cowboy Joe'

(This is the second in a series of columns about Ted Sanford, the late Kentucky commissioner of high school athletics and a member of the Kentucky Athletic Hall of Fame, as remembered by some of his Murray friends.)

Retired Murray High School football coach Preston (Ty) Holland, who played football at Murray State Normal School when Mr. Sanford was the assistant coach and who in 1930 went to Murray High as football coach when he was principal there, recalled how much the late commissioner enjoyed playing the piano and singing.

"His favorite number was 'Ragtime Cowboy Joe,'" he laughed, "and you didn't have to ask him to get him to play, it."

"Yeah," Jack Gardner added. "When I enrolled at Murray State, Nelle played the piano for the chapel meetings in the administration building (now Wrather Hall) and whenever she would get up, Ted would sit down at the piano and play and sing."

Nelle is the former Nelle Howard of Benton and a cousin of Auburn Wells. She is pictured in the 1925 Murray yearbook as the most attractive girl on the campus. She later became Mrs. Sanford.

Solon (Sodie) Hale, a retired Navy officer now with the Financial Aid Office at Murray State, was a small boy when Mr. and Mrs. Sanford, as newlyweds, rented an upstairs apartment at the home of his mother, Mrs.

Solon Higgins on Olive.

He recalls the difficult time they had getting Mr. Sanford's grand piano around a 90-degree turn in the stairwell. "They had to tear out a whole section of the wall to do it," he said.

His friends also recalled how Mr. Sanford organized a musical group which would meet and play regularly in the back of the old Holland & Hart drug store on the east side of the square. Calling themselves the "Holland-Hart Hard-hearted Harmonizers," they would sit around the store's pot belled stove and play harmonicas, juke harps, banjos, spoons, paper and combs and the like.

They soon had people phoning in requests which they would play while the caller would listen on the phone. The operator got to hooking up others until at times there were 20 to 30 parties on the line listening to their music. "It was sort of a forerunner of the radio networks we know today," Ty chuckled, "except you had to have a phone and be plugged in to hear it."

The 1924 football team, incidentally, had its "dressing room" on the third floor of the same building while practicing and playing on a field near the railroad station.

Capitol Ideas

Kennedy Quips

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is the talk of the Capitol and the inspiration for the latest political one-liner.

Sen. Bob Dole, the Kansas Republican with presidential ambitions of his own, told a business group: "I want to announce that my wife and mother have no objection to my running for president."

"I have a personal statement," Rep. Jim Wright of Texas, the House Democratic leader, told the Women's Democratic Club. "I'd like to say that my mother and my wife do not mind if I run for reelection."

Later, Wright told reporters, "Of course, my mother is dead, but she wouldn't mind."

And on it goes. "I've talked to my wife and mother and they don't object to my running again," Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., told reporters.

The question on everyone's mind is will Kennedy run for president or won't he?

It's so much on the minds of Kennedy's colleagues in Congress that nearly every day someone else slips — like Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., did last week.

Responding to Kennedy on the Senate floor, Baucus said, "The president is correct." Then after a pause, "The senator is correct."

And, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., replying to reporters said, "I haven't said I'm supporting President Kennedy."

Two reporters were standing in a Capitol hallway, when Kennedy slipped up behind them and whispered: "Hey, what do you hear? Is he running?"

The preoccupation with Kennedy was making things difficult for others.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, who's running hard for the Republican presidential nomination, called a news conference to announce the support of two of his Senate colleagues.

But most of the questions dealt with Kennedy.

At one point, Sen. John Chafee, R-R.I., said he thought Baker was "the type of candidate who could carry all the New England states."

Which prompted the inevitable question:

"Do you think Sen. Baker could carry Massachusetts in a race against Sen. Kennedy?"

"It would be touch and go," replied Chafee, drawing laughs from everyone — including Baker.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Thursday, Sept. 20, the 263rd day of 1979. There are 102 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1519, the Portuguese navigator, Ferdinand Magellan, set out from Spain on a voyage to find a western passage to the Indies. One of his ships eventually circled the world.

On this date:

In 480 B.C., the Greeks defeated the Persians in a decisive naval engagement, the Battle of Salamis in the Aegean Sea.

In 1861, Chester Arthur took the oath as the 21st President of the United States after the death of President James Garfield, who was shot by an assassin in July.

In 1938, a hurricane swept over parts of New Jersey, New York and New England, taking nearly 700 lives.

In 1973, the British-French supersonic airliner, Concorde, made its first landing in the U.S. at the dedication of the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport.

In 1977, Vietnam was admitted to the United Nations.

Ten years ago: A Vietnamese airliner and an American Air Force jet collided over South Vietnam, killing 64 Vietnamese.

Five years ago: The estimated death toll was put at 8,000 in northern Honduras as Hurricane Fifi lashed the Central American country.

One year ago: South Africa's Prime Minister John Vorster announced his resignation without giving a reason.

Today's birthdays: Actress Sophia Loren is 45. Fashion designer James Galanos is 55.

Thought for today: I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives. I like to see a man who lives in it so that his place will be proud of him — President Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1865.

The Story Of Calloway County 1822-1976

By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

A Fashion Show held at the Opera House, perhaps the first of its kind ever held in the county, was generously attended where music was provided by Luther Parker and His Family Band in addition to the Murray Concert Band.

Murray Concert Band had a sharp competitor in the Almo Brass Band which performed at the two day racing meeting in Mayfield. The Almo music makers were Prof. G. C. Dean, J. I. Linn, J. M. Imes, W. E. Gilbert, Carlos Roberts, Keys Futrell, Byron Belcher, Leslie Leon Veal, Hardy Hatcher, Burie Cooper, Urie Russell and Earl Melton of Mayfield on the snare drums.

Perhaps the first observance of its kind, at least in magnitude, was the Washington's Birthday parade conducted by Murray High School with more than 500 students participating. A huge crowd of Fourth Monday visitors witnessed the gala outpouring. Probably not a birthday cake but the appearance of a Hercules motor car on the streets of Murray was a source of excitement. The car was manufactured by the Louisville Wagon Works.

Parades, encampments, brass bands and lyceums were highlights to a weary people, but happy to be offered relief from most extenuating circumstances in 1915. This was the year that brought an end to the Tobacco Planters Protective Association. Despite the tragic consequences erupting within and without the union for eight years, the Association was given credit for virtually doubling tobacco prices. Nonetheless, it was unable to sufficiently corner the dark leaf market to the extent of effective control of market conditions. When the Association failed to enroll 185,000 acres of pledged tobacco in 1915, it released all growers from existing contracts and concluded its operation as an organization.

In another business organization departure, the telegraph station at the depot was discontinued. A sad note, was sounded upon the announcement of the death of Goebel Holland, a fine member of Murray Troop 1, Boy Scouts of America, the first member of that great American youth organization to die in Calloway County.

Hopkins School Board Is Picketed In Effort To Oust Dalton Teacher

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Dalton area residents are walking picket lines in front of the Hopkins County Board of Education as part of an effort to oust a Dalton teacher.

The residents claim the school board has taken no action on their request that a junior high school teacher be suspended for what they call immoral conduct.

The parents said the matter has been the subject of two closed sessions between the school board and its attorney. No action has been taken on the request during the board's open sessions.

The teacher was not identified publicly.

About 15 residents picketed the board's office in Madisonville on Wednesday. Two board members responded by saying the matter is still under investigation.

"I think we have done everything that a concerned community could have possibly done to get our point across to them," said the Rev. Eugene McKnight, a spokesman for the Dalton group. "They've just refused to hear us." The minister said the group has worked with the board and their lawyer in an effort to settle the dispute quietly.

He said the parents decided to picket the county office after the board failed to make a ruling at its meeting Monday night.

NECTARINE TABBOULEH—A new and delicious combination that may be served as a first course, a main-dish salad or a main-dish accompaniment.

Nectarine Tabbouleh A Delicious Combination That Is Very Versatile

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

You may feel as we do: September is the month to try those nectarine dishes you didn't get around to during the summer. For in September this lovely fruit, although still plentiful, nears the end of its season. In October, supplies are light.

So what new nectarine recipe do we offer you? A marvelous one. Tabbouleh made with the fruit. If you already dote on Tabbouleh—the Middle East combination of bulgur and other good things—chances are you'll be delighted with this version. If you haven't yet become addicted to Tabbouleh, you may be curious to try this rendition.

NECTARINE TABBOULEH

1 cup fine bulgur (parboiled, dried and cracked wheat)
1½ cups boiling water
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup finely chopped scallion
½ cup finely diced seeded tomato

¼ cup minced parsley
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1¼ teaspoons dried mint, finely crumbled
½ teaspoon dried basil, finely crumbled
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1½ cups diced firm-ripe nectarines
1 tablespoon olive oil
Lettuce

Garnish: sliced nectarines, lemon wedges, cherry tomatoes, parsley

In a medium bowl pour boiling water over bulgur and ¾ teaspoon of the salt; stir lightly; let stand uncovered until cold and the water has been absorbed. Add scallion, tomato, parsley, lemon juice, mint, basil, remaining salt and the pepper. Cover and chill. Shortly before serving, add diced nectarine and olive oil; mix lightly. Serve on lettuce and garnish with the sliced nectarines, lemon wedges, cherry tomatoes and parsley. Makes 4½ cups. Serve as a first course, a main-dish salad or as an accompaniment to a main dish.

Aftershocks Of Long-Ago Quake Costing Millions On I-24 Bridge

LAKE CITY, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's taxpayers—not to mention the Bureau of Highways—are feeling the aftershocks of an earthquake believed to have hit the state early in the last century or even earlier.

Engineers cite jumbled rock, believed to be the result of a severe earth disturbance, as the main reason the Interstate 24 bridge over the Cumberland River at Paducah, Kentucky is costing $6 million to $8 million more than expected.

Bureau of Highway officials, who have come up with the earthquake theory, said Wednesday that it was known that the bridge site was in the Madrid Fault, which brought disaster to the Missouri-Kentucky area in a series of shocks in 1811-1812.

But the officials said consulting engineers did not expect the rocks still to be jumbled and shifty and to present an obstacle to digging holes for bridge pier supports.

The oversight has sent the cost of the bridge soaring, and the price tag probably will approach $21.5 million by its expected completion around Dec. 1.

The bridge was supposed to cost less than any other major river bridges on the interstate, which runs from Chattanooga, Tenn., to the St. Louis area.

Instead, it has cost the most and has taken more than three times the allotted time to build.

The bridge is just 1,731 feet long, a length which doesn't even require suspension arches. But the 6,000-foot I-24 Ohio River bridge at Paducah had a lower contract price—$18.5 million—when it was begun in the late 1960s.

And the 2,300-foot Tennessee River bridge of I-24 about two miles west of the Cumberland River bridge cost $13.5 million and has a giant suspension arch 520 feet long.

The substructure of the Cumberland bridge, where builders encountered the problems with the unpredictable rocks, was supposed to cost $4.5 million in the original contract.

That part of the bridge, which consists of piers rooted to solid rock, wound up costing more than $11 million, according to Tom Madison, an assistant engineer in charge of construction.

Because of the pier foundation trouble, the superstructure contract was delayed several years. And the eventual bid of $10 million reflects an estimated $2 million in inflation costs.

Madison said consultants found no record of an earthquake in the bridge area, although the 1811-12 quakes caused the Mississippi River to run backward and formed Reelfoot Lake in West Tennessee about 60 miles west of the site.

But he said the troubling rock is now considered to be the sure sign of a severe earth shock.

Father Of Justice Palmore Dies Saturday

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — John Stanley Palmore Sr., father of Kentucky Supreme Court Chief Justice John S. Palmore Jr. of Frankfort, died Saturday in Tampa, Fla. He was 91.

Palmore, a native of Persimmon in Monroe County, was for many years a federal revenue agent in Kentucky and Tennessee, working with the alcohol tax unit headquartered in Louisville. He also served as an enforcement officer for the Tennessee revenue department at Nashville.

He later entered the cemetery business in Nashville and Florida.

Palmore was buried Tuesday.

State Universities Get Building Project Warning

By HERBERT SPARROW
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — State-supported universities have received a warning about the future of campus building projects in Kentucky.

"We have got to make it clear that we are beginning a new era in construction for higher education," Louisville attorney Lawrence Forgy said Wednesday.

Ed Prichard of Frankfort echoed Forgy's sentiments, saying that with competing priorities and uncertain financial resources, capital construction may have to take a back seat to such things as inflation and increased faculty salaries.

Forgy and Prichard are members of the capital construction subcommittee of the Council on Higher Education, which voted Wednesday to recommend to the full council that it not recommend state funds to pay the debt service on capital construction revenue bonds at three universities.

With Forgy saying the subcommittee was acting with "a gun at its head," it did recommend that projects now under construction at the University of Louisville, along with the expansion of a power plant at Northern Kentucky University, which is ready for bid, be approved.

The staff presented a list of $100.5 million in projects at Northern Kentucky, U of L and the University of Kentucky that would require just over $8 million in debt service over the 1980-82 biennium.

The projects approved will require about $4 million in debt service.

Forgy, who has been a leading opponent of increasing debt service, pointed out that the state is entering an uncertain and precarious economic period.

He said it is possible the 1980 Legislature could have no new revenue to work with in funding state government for the next two years and at best, higher education could expect only about $25 million in new money.

Forgy said the $8 million debt service would be a third of that and would eat into money for increases in faculty salaries, which everyone present agreed is a pressing need.

The nine state-supported universities have also asked for $36 million in increased funding just to cover inflation.

Prichard criticized U of L for "financial razzle dazzle" in going ahead and selling bonds in June for $30.9 million in projects that will require about $2.5 million in debt service in the first year of the biennium.

Prichard said in his motion that the other projects should not be approved until the next governor and the Legislature have given the council some direction in their consideration of the budget.

"But we want to make it clear we don't regard capital construction as the highest priority," Prichard said.

The projects approved at the University of Louisville are renovation of the Red Barn, Phase one of the Arts Complex, renovations of the student center, Speed School and Houchens Building, a library, a railroad overpass, relocation of the Belknap Theater, Social Science Complex One and phase one of the science complex.

Among the buildings affected by the decision were the primary care center, medical research building and a new pharmacy building at the University of Kentucky.

Donald Clapp, vice president for administrative affairs at UK, said failure to build the structures could have serious consequences, including losing the accreditation of the state's only college of pharmacy.

Clapp said the other two buildings are separately needed to allow UK's Medical Center to properly meet its programs.

Dennis Taulbee, budget director at Northern Kentucky University, said his school's proposals are not expansions but only attempts to carry out the original master plan of the school adopted several years ago.

New Life Breathed Into Proposal Of Pay Raise For Congressmen

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House's latest rejection of a pay raise for members of Congress and high-level bureaucrats may not be the last blow in the battle.

New life was breathed into the proposal Wednesday through an oversight by opponents of the pay increase, even though the House voted 219-191 to kill the measure.

As a result, the bill — which would add $4,025 a year to the $57,500 congressmen now get — remained technically alive on the House floor and could be brought back today if supporters want.

There was no indication supporters would attempt to reverse the vote. But the possibility existed until tonight's House adjournment.

To get the bill brought up again, supporters must find one opponent willing to ask that the vote be reconsidered, a request likely to bring that congressman under fire from his constituents.

And then the supporters must either:

- Find enough new supporters willing to go on record in favor of a pay raise to overturn the defeat.
- Or, find opponents who secretly want the pay raise but fear political repercussions if they vote for it. Then, they must persuade those congressmen that Wednesday's vote put them on record as opposing the pay raise and persuade them to stay away from the floor if the bill is brought up again.

The reason the bill remained alive is that no one asked that a motion to reconsider the vote be prohibited, normally a routine request. As a result, a motion to reconsider was allowed until the close of business today.

The House rejected the salary increase on a roll call vote on the legislation to which the pay raise was attached.

Earlier, the House had approved, on an unrecorded 156-64 vote, an amendment that would give a 7 percent raise to congressmen and senators and to all federal judges and bureaucrats making at least $47,500 a year.

It was the second time this year the House approved a raise only to kill it at the last minute. In June, it accepted an amendment to increase its pay by 5.5 percent but then killed the bill to which the raise was attached.

Wednesday's rejection killed not only the raise, but also a resolution needed to provide emergency money for a variety of federal departments after Oct. 1. The House has not approved the regular legislation needed to finance those departments after that date, the start of the 1980 fiscal year.

The pay raise amendment would have appropriated money to fund an already scheduled salary increase.

A 1975 law authorizes a cost-of-living hike of up to 12.9 percent this year for legislators and top bureaucrats. But no raise can go into effect unless Congress appropriates the money to pay for it. Also the size of any pay increase depends on the amount Congress provides.

Woman On Trial

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Rebecca Hettich, whose 10-year-old son died June 3 after "huffing" fumes from solvents, went on trial Wednesday in Fayette Circuit Court on a reckless homicide charge.

Commonwealth's Attorney Larry Roberts said Ms. Hettich, 32, was negligent in looking after her son, Eric A. Amburgey. If convicted, she could be sentenced to prison for one to five years.

The youth's body was found in a wooded area near the apartment complex where he and Ms. Hettich lived. A plastic bag covering his face was found to contain glue, lighter fluid and paint.

Police say huffing to become intoxicated is a major problem among children in Fayette County.

Tigers To Meet Highly-Rated Heath Friday

By TONY WILSON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

With the Big Two out of the way, Murray High must prepare for Friday's invasion of Heath, which may be the biggest of them all.

"They were the preseason pick to win the state tournament in Class AA," says Murray High coach John Hina. "So we know how good they are."

The Tigers have met the likes of Fort Campbell and Mayfield the past two weeks, and their facing Heath at 8 p.m. at Ty Holland Stadium will mark a three-game stretch of playing teams that have, at one time or another, been ranked first or second in the state.

"The strength of teams in our district this year is almost unbelievable," says Hina, whose Tigers are 2-2 after back-to-back losses. "It's an honor to be able to play teams of the caliber we're facing, but it's tough to get ready for them."

Murray High, too, may be facing a Pirate squad that is close to peaking. Prior to last week, Heath had appeared lackluster in beating Trigg County just 7-0, then lost 24-7 to Clarksville, Tenn., Northwest seven days later.

Last week, though, the Pirates neatly clipped Fort Campbell's wings by a 14-12 margin. And fumbles, which had numbered 22 in Heath's previous three games, added to just one against the Falcons.

"They certainly should be the most physical team we've seen yet," says Hina. "They have five linemen over 200 pounds and two others just under that."

Heath's biggest offensive asset is likely senior running back Greg Wright, who surpassed the 100-yard mark in all but one of the Pirates' four games. He notched 139 against Fort Campbell.

Murray High, though, showed a solid running attack of its own last week against a strong Mayfield unit. Of its 160 yards on the ground, 91 came from junior Tim Foster, who scored twice on a 67-yard run and a 62-yard kickoff return.

"After the Fort Campbell game (a 35-7 loss), we decided we were going to have to establish a running game for our passing to be effective," said Hina. "And I think we made some progress in that direction against Mayfield."

Quarterback Rich Rollins threw a season-low five passes against Mayfield, but Hina says that won't necessarily be the case against Heath. "We'll try to go with whatever the situation dictates. We hope not to fall behind early, because in that situation, it's hard not to pass to try to catch up."

The Pirates, who beat Murray 20-6 last season, were just a single defeat away from a berth in the playoffs last year. That lone loss came against Mayfield, the Class AA state champion for the past two seasons.

"Heath has been one of the most successful football programs in the state the past few years," said Hina. "Their coaches always do a fine job in preparing them to play, and I know we'll have to be ready if we're going to stay with them."

Calloway County High, which hosts Fulton County Friday at Roy Stewart Stadium, is coming off a loss to Lone Oak, but coach Stan Outland hopes the Lakers' improved second-half play against the Purple Flash, including that of Mike Shipwash (making tackle above) carries over against Fulton County.

Pilots, Coached By Former Racer Watts, Hope Lakers 2nd Victim

By TONY WILSON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Stan Watts can sympathize with Calloway County, because he's had first-hand experience. During his freshman year at Fulton County High School 15 years ago, he watched the Pilots endure their first football season.

"It was hard times, I'll tell you that," Watts, now the Fulton County head coach, said by phone this morning. "I know what Calloway has to go through as a first-year football school."

He'll have no sympathy Friday, though, because his team will square off against the Lakers at Roy Stewart Stadium at 8 p.m. in search of a second straight victory.

The Pilots lost their first two games by a total of four points — 3-0 to Ballard Memorial and 13-12 to Fulton City — before rebounding to whip Portageville, Mo., 20-6 last week. A string of victories for Watts wouldn't be his first taste of success, though. Not by a long shot.

As a walk-on to the Murray State football team in 1968, Watts established himself as a superior placekicker, a position he held for four years. And his list of achievements in the Racer record books is a long one.

Most extra points scored in a game (7), most field goals in a game (3, tied with two others), longest field goal (58 yards), most field goals in a season (11), most points scored by a Murray State player in a career (41), most extra points scored (75) and most field goals (21).

Now, however, Watts is concerned with turning what he calls the current Fulton County team "his best team ever" into a winning one.

Watts' biggest individual performer thus far — and for the past three seasons — has been tailback Jeff Mays, a 6-1, 165-pound senior. Mays rushed for 1,030 yards last year, already has over 300 this year and needs just 86 yards to surpass the 2,000-yard career mark.

"He's having a fine year like I knew he would," said Watts. "He has the speed and quickness to make our offense a threat on the ground."

And Mays' little brother, sophomore Jimmy, is a player, too, says Watts. "He does most blocking for Jeff now, but he's good at it. He'll be a big gainer before he leaves here."

As if that pair isn't enough, the Pilots also have senior Joe Warren, at 6-2 and 205 an imposing figure at fullback. "He's best at defensive tackle, and I think he's a college prospect there," Watts said. "But he's big enough to pick up some yards on offense."

The owner of the "hardest hitter" tag on the Fulton County squad, though, belongs to linebacker Ronnie Cheers, whose statistics belie his 5-7, 160-pound frame. Cheers has anchored the defense the past two seasons by making over 100 tackles each year.

"We're solid on defense," says Watts. "Our offense is still very inconsistent, but if we can cut down on fumbles and other mistakes, we'll be all right there, too."

The Lakers, 0-4, were beaten 40-0 by Lone Oak last week after losing just 7-0 in three overtimes to McLean County a week earlier. But coach Stan Outland says he wasn't surprised by the wide margin of defeat.

"I've noticed in coaching this team the past two years that it usually has a letdown after a good game," he said. "We came out in the second half against Lone Oak and played a good game, though. I'm encouraged about that."

Outland says his biggest concern is stopping Mays and Warren, a task that could be difficult. "The ground game is where their strength is, so we've got to cut that off."

Murray High coach John Hina says his team must establish a running game, including that of Nick Swift (above), to effectively battle Heath Friday.

Kohlberg Announces He Will Turn Pro

Murrayan Mel Purcell's biggest rival for the No. 1 spot on the University of Tennessee tennis team, Andy Kohlberg, has announced he will join the professional tennis ranks.

The nation's top-ranked amateur last year, Kohlberg, of Larchmont, N.Y., said Tuesday he had signed a long-term contract for product endorsements and wanted to devote all of his energies to becoming a top touring pro.

Kohlberg was the Southeastern Conference champion in singles and doubles last year and won All-America honors. He played on the Junior Davis Cup and Pan-American teams.

Purcell will be eligible to play at Tennessee this spring after sitting out a year due to his transferring from Memphis State. He is currently the world's top-ranked 21-and-under amateur.

Compensation Voided By Judge

NEW YORK — A National Basketball Association compensation award given to the Seattle SuperSonics last year after Marvin Webster signed with the New York Knicks as a free agent was voided by a federal judge.

NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien had ordered the Knicks to compensate Seattle with center-forward Lonnie Shelton, a first-round 1979 draft choice and $450,000 in cash.

But Judge Robert L. Carter of the Southern District of New York said he found the award violated the agreement between the league and the NBA Players' Association in that it "more than compensated" Seattle for the loss of Webster.

Angels Hold Two-Game Division Lead

Royals Still Gaining No Ground

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

"The object," said Kansas City's Hal McRae, "is to win this thing — not run away with it." The subject was the American League's West Division title.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

McRae and the second-place Royals beat the division-leading California Angels 6-4 Wednesday night, winning for the second time in the three games of this series but remaining exactly where they were when the set began — two games behind.

"I looked up at the scoreboard and suddenly it occurred to me: We're going to play 162 games and we're going to end up in a tie," said Kansas City third baseman George Brett, who had two hits and drove in a run. "I really think there's a chance it will happen."

It happened last year in the East, when the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox decided divisional honors in a one-game playoff. And, since the Royals and Angels meet four times more this season, Brett's prophecy may be realized.

"The only thing that will matter," said McRae, "is who's best in October. If we get into the playoffs, this thing will be history."

Darrell Porter drove in three runs while Larry Gura and two relievers combined on a six-hitter to defeat the Angels.

Meanwhile, the Chicago White Sox shut out the Minnesota Twins 6-0, the Detroit Tigers upended the Baltimore Orioles 5-0, the Boston Red Sox blasted the Toronto Blue Jays 8-0, the New York Yankees trimmed the Cleveland Indians 2-0, the Texas Rangers beat the Oakland A's 9-4 and the Milwaukee Brewers bombed the Seattle Mariners, 12-1.

White Sox 6, Twins 0 — Twins Manager Gene Mauch admits he's playing favorites in the battle for the West top spot: he wants Minnesota to win it. But the Twins were shut out a second consecutive time by the lowly White Sox.

The Twins managed just four hits off Ross Baumgarten and now haven't scored in 18 innings. Chet Lemon and Jim Morrison hit two-run singles for the winners.

Tigers 5, Orioles 0 — Steve Kenip scored one run and drove in another, backing the four-hit pitching of Jack Morris and carrying the Tigers past the Orioles.

The loss, coupled with Milwaukee's rout of Seattle, left at three Baltimore's magic number for clinching the East Division crown.

It doesn't take much to get Johnny Bench excited. Just throw him into a pennant race and watch him go to work.

Bench's two-run homer gave the Cincinnati Reds a 3-2 victory over the San Diego Padres and boosted their lead in the National League West to 2½ games over Houston, which lost to Atlanta 6-5.

"I don't know how he could play any better, unless he got a hit every time up," said Reds Manager John McNamara of his star catcher, who is hitting .282 with 22 home runs and 75 RBI and has been the team's hottest hitter down the stretch.

"He's had a very good year, especially since the All-Star break, when he's hit over .300. And he's done some job catching."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Bench, whose torrid second half of the season places him among the favorites for the NL's most valuable player award, isn't exactly enjoying the grind.

"I'm going to be 50 years old before this thing is over," he said. "It's wears you out. I'm tired mentally and physically."

Not many people expected the Astros to remain close for so long. Bench was asked if Houston, which entertains the Reds for three games this weekend, can win the division with a rookie catcher — Bruce Bochy.

"Not unless his name is Johnny Bench," he said with a smile.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh's lead over Montreal in the NL East was reduced to one game when the Pirates split a two-night double-header in Philadelphia, winning 9-6 and losing 6-5, while the Expos took a pair from the Mets, 3-1 and 4-1. St. Louis and Chicago split their twinbill, with the Cards victorious 6-3, then falling 3-2 in 10 innings. Los Angeles beat San Francisco 7-2.

Pirates 9-5, Phillies 6-6 — The Pirates rallied from a 6-1 deficit with eight runs in the last two innings of the first game, then were given a dose of the same medicine by the Phillies in the nightcap. Philadelphia was down 5-1 but took the second contest when rookie Keith Moreland singled in the tying run in the sixth and pinch-hitter Pete Mackanin's fielder's choice delivered the winning tally.

In the first game, Manny Sanguillen's pinch-hit triple broke a 6-6 tie in the ninth. Philadelphia had jumped in front mostly thanks to a grandstand homer by Mike Schmidt in the seventh. The Pirates got three in the eighth on four singles and an error.

It was the 40th time the Pirates have come from behind to win this season.

Expos 3-4, Mets 1-1 — After tough losses to the Pirates Monday and Tuesday, Montreal might have seemed ready to collapse. But strong pitching by Rudy May, who threw a six-hitter in the nightcap, and Ross Grimsley, who won his first game since June 26, boosted the Expos within a game of the East lead.

The Expos won the second game despite a first-inning collision that saw second baseman Dave Cash get cut on the head and right fielder Ellis Valentine bruise his jaw. Both Yankees 2, Indians 0 — Tommy John picked up his 19th victory with 82-3 innings of three-hit pitching and Reggie Jackson hit his 26th homer of the season to boost New York over Cleveland.

Rangers 9, A's 4 — Mickey Rivers' two-run single highlighted the six-run third inning that helped Texas beat Oakland. Jim Sundberg walked twice in the outburst, the second time with the bases loaded.

Brewers 12, Mariners 1 — Home runs by Buck Martinez, Ben Oglivie and Sixto Lezcano paced the Brewers' 19-hit attack and kept Milwaukee mathematically alive in the East race.

players had to leave the game. Substitute shortstop Speier and Cash each homered in the nightcap. In the opener, Tony Perez knocked in two runs and scored the other for Montreal.

Cardinals 6-2, Cubs 3-3 —

Dave Kingman had two home runs to increase his majorleague leading total to 47 but it was a 10th-inning shot by Jerry Martin that clinched the Cubs' second-game victory. St. Louis won the opener as Ken Reitz and Keith Hernandez had two-run triples and Ted Simmons homered.

Dodgers 7, Giants 2 — Rookie Rick Sutcliffe won his 16th game — he's lost nine — and Ron Cey had a three-run homer for the Dodgers.

Who'll Pay You 10.315% On Six Month Savings Certificates?

Peoples Bank money market certificates are non-negotiable time deposits. These certificates have a 6 month maturity (182 days). The minimum deposit amount is $10,000, but deposits may be made in any amount of $10,000 or more. Federal regulations prohibit the compounding of interest on these money market certificates. The interest is subject to change at maturity. This 10.315% rate is effective on certificates purchased from now through September 26, 1979.

WHO'LL PAY YOU 7.95% ON FOUR YEAR MONEY CERTIFICATES?

If you want a longer term certificate - how about our new higher interest FOUR YEAR MONEY CERTIFICATE? You can earn an interest rate only 1/4% below the average four year yield on U.S. Treasury securities. The interest rate for September is 7.95% and yields 8.274%. The rate on new certificates is determined the first of each month.

WHO'LL PAY YOU 5% ON A PASSBOOK SAVINGS?

Do you have some surplus cash you want readily available yet want to earn interest on it? Then a Blue Chip Savings account is your answer. Interest rate is 5% and paid quarterly. Interest is paid from the day of deposit to day of withdrawal.

WHO'LL OFFER YOU A FULL RANGE OF OTHER CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT TO SUIT YOUR NEEDS?

A substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal of certificates of deposit.

Southern Cal, Other Favorites, Should Win Easily

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

There's nothing like college football to turn grown, dignified men and women into a babel of banner-waving, horn-toting juveniles. They go into spasms over creaked knights in plastic and synthetic armor who spend three hours wrestling for a result that makes the mob want to tear down the goalposts.

The combatants are distinguishable by their flamboyant colors and weird nicknames. There are scores of Tigers and Bears, plus Trojans, Spartans, Boiler-makers, Spiders and even Webfoots and Buckeyes (a hard Ohio nut with a big brown eye).

But in the final analysis, only mathematics count. Last week our score was a gaudy 41-8, 837 with the Fighting Irish (Notre Dame) and Bruins (UCLA) the surprise specials. Season score: 71-20, 780.

Expect no drastic upheavals this week.

Southern California 33, Minnesota 20: How can a Trojan on a white horse be unseated by a Gopher?

Alabama 37, Baylor 7: They call them the Crimson Tide, Red Elephants and Scarlet Doom. This one is the Bear (Bryant) vs. the Bears.

Oklahoma 47, Tulsa 13: The always formidable Sooners rely on a wishbone ball-handling Houdini named Julius Caesar Watts. What?

Texas 34, Iowa State 9: The belated debut of the "Hook 'Em Horns" gang. The Longhorns have a hatchet man named Hatchett.

Purdue 19, Notre Dame 15: The Boilermakers will do a little sodering on last week's conquerors of Michigan.

Michigan 43, Kansas 3: Speaking of Michigan, they bounce back with B.J. Dickey and a more diversified attack. What's a Wolverine?

Penn State 30, Texas A&M 13: The best team in the East still gives ground grudgingly. Seriously, now, are there any lions in Nittany?

Nebraska 35, Iowa 9: Shhh, shhh, shhh. Not being risqué, but is it true avid Cornhusker fans even wear red unmentionables?

Michigan State 33, Miami (O.) 10: If good things come in clusters, can Spartan gridders match their basketball brothers?

Mississippi 19, Missouri 14: If Mizzou has to be shown, Steve Sloan, Ole Miss' young sideline genius, may have something to show.

Washington 25, Oregon 14: The Huskies have quarterbacks with intriguing names — Tom Porras (porous?) and Tom Flick.

North Carolina 25, Pittsburgh 20: Pitt has a lot of talent that gets slowed in rich Southern tar, whatever that is.

Florida State 32, Miami (Fla.) 10: An intrastate rivalry that should go to the Seminoles. Do they really carry tomahawks?

Arkansas 23, Oklahoma State 7: Lou Holtz's quarterback Kevin Scanlon broke all of Joe Namath's passing marks at Beaver Falls, Pa.

Brown 21, Yale 14: A left-handed quarterback named Larry Carbone should paint Yale's blue blazer.

NBC Hopes Olympic Telecasts Will Bring More Rating Success

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

NBC paid $87 million for the 1980 Summer Olympics in Moscow, and indications are that the winning bid for the rights to the 1984 Games will be twice that figure.

Preliminary proposals for the Los Angeles Olympics were made by the three networks last week. Each now must play the waiting game with the same kind of anticipation and excitement normally reserved for the Emmy Awards.

And with good reason.

"To Americans, the Olympics are more than a sports event," was one conclusion of a commissioned study of public attitudes towards the Olympics. Another conclusion is that television views the Summer Games as the greatest thing since Milton Berle.

COMMENTARY

Every four years, for two weeks, the center of the world is wherever the Olympic flag is planted. And the American TV network that can point its cameras in that direction has a publicity, prestige and public relations bonanza that is unparalleled.

"The lasting impact of a network broadcasting the Olympics is shown by the fact that 40 percent recall which network broadcast the 1976 Summer Games (ABC) but only 28 percent recall where the Games were held (Montreal)."

That was another finding of the Olympic research commissioned by NBC and the U.S. Olympic Committee. The habit of watching one network for two whole weeks and the opportunity to bombard a riveted audience with promotional announcements for it fall schedule help explain why ABC became No. 1 in the ratings in 1976. It also allows NBC President Fred Silverman to predict that No. 3 NBC will become the top-rated network by Christmas of 1980.

Sports, except for the Super Bowl, World Series and ABC's successful "Monday Night Football," do not reach the mass audiences that stimulate advertisers to turn their pockets inside out for network air time. And the Olympics is the biggest exception of them all.

"Despite a generally low interest in sports, women are as interested as men in the Olympics," said David Sawyer, whose firm, D.H. Sawyer and Associates, interviewed 999 subjects on their attitudes toward the Moscow Games.

The ironic thing is that the folks at NBC didn't know that women were that gung-ho for the Olympics when they made their winning bid in 1977. But you can be sure all three networks know now. Imagine their glee when they realized they could sell expensive commercial time to manufacturers of panty hose and laundry detergent, as well as premium beer and fancy cars.

"The high level of interest expressed by women in the Olympics affords NBC the opportunity to capture an audience not normally available to a sports program," Sawyer's study concluded.

Which becomes more important because NBC will be preempting soap operas and game shows during weekday afternoons as part of its 172 hours of coverage next July. For 1984, expectations are that the covering network will air more than 225 hours of the L.A. Olympics.

Official Says Case Of Woman Keeping Her Son Locked Up Not Unusual

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A state Human Resources official says the case of an east Kentucky woman who keeps her 42-year-old son locked up for his own protection is not that unusual.

Ben McClellan, field services director for the department's Bureau for Social Services, said Wednesday that he could not discuss individual cases, but that his department serves a number of mentally retarded adults in their homes through its adult protective services program.

The program is for adults who are exploited or abused or otherwise do not receive proper care, he said.

McClellan said the case of the 42-year-old in east Kentucky has been an active case in the bureau for some time, and that field workers plan to continue to maintain contact with the family and provide needed services.

McClellan said the bureau's primary aim is to keep persons in their own homes and communities if possible.

He said he is not personally familiar with the case involving Georgia Chandler and her son, Gerald Morgan, but that newspaper accounts indicate that Morgan is physically in good shape.

"I can't believe we have anybody (in the bureau) going to stand by and see a guy suffer," he said.

The case came to light when newspaper stories described Morgan's living conditions. Spokesmen for the Kentucky Association of Retarded Citizens and for the Kentucky River Community Care Inc., a local mental health agency that serves Leslie County, both said Morgan should not be confined.

But some neighbors and relatives said Morgan doesn't want to be out. His mother confines him to a fenced-in porch and his bedroom, and he is allowed out periodically to go fishing, visit the doctor or help his 81-year-old mother with chores.

McClellan said the state probably would not change its position that Morgan be cared for at home unless his mother becomes unable to care for him, or unless ordered to provide different services by a court of law.

Tax Rate Proposed By Franklin Court

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Franklin Fiscal Court Wednesday proposed a 1979 tax rate of 15.4 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, a reduction from last year's 17 cent rate.

The proposed rate is expected to produce about a 4 percent increase in revenue because of higher property assessment. The board has not set a public hearing on the rate, required by a 1979 state law.

Fire Singes Ventura City Limits As Firemen Fight Winds, Weather

By The Associated Press

A 16,000-acre fire singed the city limits of Ventura as hundreds of firefighters battling hot weather and erratic winds struggled to quell at least 16 blazes consuming 90,000 acres of California brush and timber.

Since Saturday, 44 homes have been destroyed by the fires.

"My people have just about had it," said U.S. Forest Service spokesman Dave Blaine of the firefighters who have come from as far as Maine to help control the flames.

"Some of them have been at it now for two weeks and they're in as much danger from heat stroke or heart attack as they are from the fires," he said.

Hundreds of people in the Ventura area fled their homes Wednesday when that blaze, which began Tuesday, came within two miles of the city limits. Fire department officials said later the city of 64,800 was in no danger and only a barn was destroyed before fire fighters beat back the blaze.

"It was quite a sight to see — the fire coming up toward the town," said Ventura County Fire Capt. Dick Perry.

"It was like a wall of flames." Meanwhile, a half-dozen houses were in ashes near Goleta, in Santa Barbara County 100 miles northwest of Los Angeles, after a 4,000-acre fire roared through Eagle Canyon and into the Los Padres National Forest.

Fires also burned across 40,000 acres in the Angeles National Forest above Los Angeles, including 3,000 acres north of Claremont in eastern Los Angeles County.

In Northern California, 8,200 acres of forest burned near Placerville, 50 miles northeast of Sacramento, and 3,000 acres went up in flames in Plumas County, 100 miles northeast of Sacramento.

The Claremont blaze, which began Wednesday, spread rapidly and for a time threatened about 50 cabins in Palmer Canyon.

Los Angeles County Fire Department spokeswoman Faye Nagy said that 350 firefighters backed by helicopters laden with chemicals battled through brush up to 25 feet high to save structures.

"Helicopters were dropping their loads right on top of homes," she said.

Meantime, the California Division of Forestry was battling its biggest fire of the year in San Diego County as erratic winds sent flames racing across more than 5,500 acres of brush in rural Dulzura, 30 miles east of San Diego.

In the Angeles National Forest 20 miles north of Los Angeles, firemen reported Wednesday that the end was in sight for the mammoth Sage Fire, which had charred 31,000 acres of brushland.

Forest Service spokesman Lee Redding said that a critical fire line on the northeast shoulder of the fire near Mt. Pacifico held late Wednesday, allowing for an estimated 70 percent containment on the big blaze.

Redding placed the cost for fighting the fire at $2.6 million to $2.8 million. Watershed damages should run upwards of $24 million, he said.

Warren County Deputy Found Innocent By Jury

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) —

Former Warren County deputy sheriff Jack Hodges has been found innocent in his second trial on charges in connection with the September 1976 bombing of his carwash.

A U.S. District Court jury deliberated about four hours before returning the verdict Wednesday night. Hodges had been charged with conspiring to destroy the carwash, using the mail to defraud by mailing false insurance claims, and disrupting interstate commerce. He was acquitted on all the charges.

Hodges, 37, was convicted during his first trial in January 1978. U.S. District Judge Edward Johnstone ordered the retrial on the basis of new evidence.

During Hodges' trial, the testimony of Robert Markham, who said he thought he had immunity, resulted in Markham's arrest.

Markham, a convicted felon, was the prosecution's key witness. Before being arrested by Bowling Green police, he testified that Hodges "asked me if I would destroy his carwash." He said Hodges promised him $2,000 for the job.

Although Markham admitted bombing the carwash around midnight on Sept. 20, 1976, he said on the stand that he had not been charged because state and federal officials promised him immunity in exchange for his testimony.

The warrant for his arrest was taken out by Hodges' father, former Warren County Sheriff Joe Hodges.

Wildcat Strike At Paducah Continues

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Union employees continued their wildcat strike Wednesday against the Essex Wire Co.

The walkout, involving 215 workers, began Tuesday evening because of a reported dispute with supervisory personnel.

Officials of Local 2318, International Association of Machinists & Aerospace Workers, called the action unauthorized.

A spokesman for Essex said there would be no negotiations until the workers returned.

Larry Harrison, Former Resident, Dies Wednesday

Word has been received of the death of Larry Harrison, former resident of Hazel, who died suddenly on Wednesday while attending a meeting in California.

Mr. Harrison, about 48, now resided at Route 6, Box 465A, Columbus, Miss. 39701. He formerly operated the Hazel Mill until November of 1978 when he and his family moved to Columbus, Miss., where he is now a salesman for a seed company.

Survivors include his wife, Mildred, daughter, Sherri, and son, Kent, all of Columbus, Miss.; his mother, Mrs. Lula Harrison, one sister, and one brother, all of Kansas City, Mo.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete, but the body will be returned to the Gunter Funeral Home, Columbus, Miss.

WILL USE PUPPETS—Margaret Tharp, copastor of The Apostolic Church, 2205 Coldwater Road, Murray, will use her puppets, left to right, Willie, Tootsie, and Chuck, in the services on Sunday, Sept. 23, at the church. O. T. Smith, superintendent of the Sunday School with classes for all ages meeting at 10 a.m., said a surprise contest is now being conducted. Worship services will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday, according to Manuel J. Tharp, pastor. A guest speaker will be present at the services at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Rev. Tharp said.

Environmental Official Says Discrepancies Will Occur In Mine Regulations

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) —

There will be "some big discrepancies" between federal strip mine regulations and Kentucky's proposed permanent regulations, the state's top environmental official says.

Kentucky's proposed permanent strip mine plan will meet the requirements of the 1977 federal Surface Mining Act but won't mirror federal regulations, Natural Resources Secretary Frank Harscher said Tuesday.

He cited as an example a regulation governing post-mining land use data required on permit application forms. In such a case, Kentucky's regulation "would deviate from the (federal) regulations but still comply with the law," Harscher said.

"With the vast majority of differences I believe we can negotiate (with the U.S. Office of Surface Mining)," he said. Kentucky has not yet filed its permanent regulations, taking advantage of a seven-month extension of the original Aug. 3 federal deadline.

A federal judge in Washington ordered the deadline extended to March 3, and a proposal is before Congress to extend it for another five months, to Aug. 3, 1980.

"If it proves beneficial to us and doesn't make us forego the advantages we have," Kentucky will take advantage of the full extension, Harscher said in an interview. "We are taking the time to produce a quality product."

He said the department has withdrawn an "informational" copy of the state's permanent regulations which it submitted to the U.S. Office of Surface Mining's regional headquarters at Knoxville, Tenn., in July.

In the meantime, a task force has been formed within the department to work on the permanent plan, Harscher said. Public comment will be solicited through the creation of small citizen advisory groups, he said.

The state's permanent regulations must be approved by a legislative subcommittee before they are effective, but do not require approval by the full General Assembly.

However, Harscher said he expects to have the regulations in final form by the start of the 1980 legislative session, in case federal officials advise the state that Kentucky's strip mine laws — on which the regulations are based — are inadequate or conflict with federal law.

"In my opinion, at this time we are as closely in compliance (with interim federal regulations) as any state can be," Harscher later told a legislative subcommittee on surface mining.

The News In Brief

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance is recommending that American civilian technicians remain in the Sinai Desert up to three years and U.S. reconnaissance flights be stepped up to monitor the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty.

The formula announced Wednesday hinges on congressional approval, but serious opposition is considered unlikely.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's emergence as a likely challenger for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination is having little visible impact on President Carter's autumn political plans.

Aides and advisers say Carter will do little campaign-type traveling before November and will not rush an announcement of his candidacy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

House's latest rejection of a pay raise for members of Congress and high-level bureaucrats may not be the last blow in the battle.

The House voted 219-191 to kill the measure, but it got new life Wednesday through an oversight by opponents of the pay increase.

NATIONAL

A 16,000-acre fire singed the city limits of Ventura as hundreds of firefighters battling hot weather and erratic winds struggled to quell at least 16 blazes consuming 90,000 acres of California brush and timber. Since Saturday, 44 homes have been destroyed by the fires.

INTERNATIONAL

JERUSALEM (AP) — Troops, police and bomb disposal teams fanned out through crowded streets today to protect Israelis shopping for the Jewish New Year after a Palestinian bomb ripped through a Jerusalem mall, killing at least one person and injuring 42.

ROME (AP) — A strong earthquake followed by nearly 300 weaker tremors rattled the mountainous heart of Italy, killing at least five people, damaging buildings in dozens of towns and sending thousands of terrified citizens from their beds into the streets.

Damage was concentrated near Norcia, a medieval town of 7,000 in hilly Umbria 70 miles north of Rome. All five deaths were reported in villages close to Norcia, where St. Benedict was born 14 centuries ago.

Ohio Firm Agrees To Pay $114,400 For Richmond Dump

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — An Ohio plastics firm has agreed to pay $114,400 for 8.8 acres on the site of the old Richmond city dump. The sale was approved by the city commission Tuesday night. The name of the firm and its reason for buying the land were not revealed.

Auction Planned

An Auction sponsored by the Calloway Athletic Boosters' Club will be held Saturday, Sept. 29, at 7 p.m. at the Calloway High School gym.

Proceeds will benefit the sports program in all the Calloway County Schools, according to Diane Barnett, president of the club.

Anyone wishing to contribute new or used, big or small, for the auction may call 753-3033 or 759-4716 by Friday, Sept. 28, and the items will be picked up by club members, Mrs. Barnett said.

Dan Miller, a local auctioneer, will donate his time for the auction. Items so far contributed by Calloway and Murray merchants include a Tappan stove by the Tappan Company, Murray Division; an 11x14 portrait by Artcraft; a barbecued shoulder from Owen's Food Market; and oil changes from several area service stations.
